Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters in the Philippines, Oct. 20.—(INS)— The American flag flew again today in the Philippines, brought back by an American invasion army under the personal command of Gen.
Douglas MacArthur who fulfilled his promise "I shall return." The mightiest ocean-going arma-mada in history landed tens of thousands of American doughboys on Leyte Island, approximately 300 miles south of Manila.
The invasion caught the Japs completely off balance. It completely surprised them. They had expected that MacArthur would land somewhere on the coast of Mindanao, southernmost of the Philippines. But again he out-guessed them and completely foiled them, just as he had on numerous other occasions when he began

Cub Packs Participate In Churchville Programs

CHURCHVILLE, Oct. 20.—Representatives of Den 1, Feasterville; Den 4, Johnsville, and Den 6, Richboro, took part in a program of entertainment at the Cub Scout meeting at the headquarters of Pack 5, here, a few nights ago. The delegation from Feasterville performed a sleight of hand trick, and the Johnsville representatives took part in what they termed a cat on the fence pillow fight. The den from Richboro took part in what was termed "The old tin Lizzie." Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Simon, Feasterville, and Mrs. Williams, Johnsville, presented books to their sons, and Cubmaster Gordon Miller presented books to William Simpson, Robert Loughhead, Richard Hawkins and Gerald Post.
Marshall Davis, Louis Herwig, Edward Fiemeyer, Robert Meade and Robert Kalbfleisch have been graduated from cubbing and now are eligible to join scout troops.
Mrs. Baner, Churchville; Mrs.
Leach, Johnsville, and Mrs. Blood, Richboro, who served as den mothers the past year, retired. New den mothers introduced were Mrs. Simon, Feasterville; Mrs. Botke, Churchville; Mrs. Williams, Johnsville, and Mrs. Stevens, Richboro.
Ray Williams, Johnsville, who served as den chief, was presented a certificate for meritorious service. Marshall Davis, Feasterville, and Louis Herwig, Johnsville, were appointed new den chiefs.
Scout Executive Raymond W.
Hoxworth, Doylestown, gave a talk, and there was a demonstration on the making of kites.

UP-TO-PRESS-TIME WAR BULLETINS

(By International News Service)

ALLIES FIGHT THEIR WAY TOWARD VENLO

Supreme Headquarters, A. E. F., France—British infantry and American armored forces, smashing back determined German defense forces in sharp clashes on mud-soaked battle-fields, fought their way forward today toward the Maas river communications center of Venlo at the German frontier.
At the other side of the Netherlands battlefield, troops of the Canadian First Army made good progress in their drive against the Scheldt estuary port of Breskens which was under artillery bombardment.
(A Reuter front dispatch said that British and Canadian forces supported by tanks and aircraft launched a new offensive north of Antwerp.) The Canadians struck to within two miles of the towns of Schoon-dijke and Oostburg. Other Canadian units advanced from the Leopold Canal. Meanwhile, patrols from the two forces made contact in the area south of Oostburg.

BERLIN ALARMED AT RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London—Massed divisions of the Soviet Army, driving speedily across the extremities of East Prussia, were reported by enemy sources today to be carrying the fury of war to the "holy soil" of the Reich on a scale which brought obvious alarm to Berlin.
While Moscow maintained an unbroken silence, enemy propaganda outlets painted a lurid word picture of the Russian advance, climaxed by an assertion that at one point inside East Prussia the Soviets have breached Nazi lines. DNE asserted that the Reds smashed a hole through German positions by the use of "incomparably powerful tank forces." It added that "the twin battle for East Prussia is heading for a climax."

Judge Ponders Upon
Decision in Bristol Case

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(INS)— Federal Judge George A. Welsh was confronted today with making a decision on whether a man can use his own name to operate a business in competition with another enterprise which has been using the contested name for 160 years.
The unique issue was raised in a suit filed last June by the D. Landrecht Seed Co. of Bristol, which established the first seed store in the United States in 1874, against David Landreth, charging unfair competition.
Landreth was connected with the complainting firm for 35 years, being its former president and great grandson of the founder. He resigned and went into business for himself in April, 1941, near the site of the old establishment in Bristol, using his own name.
The corporation filed suit for an injunction to restrain its former officer from using his own name in the business, claiming that by doing so he would "deceive" customers of the old company into doing business with him under the misapprehension that he was the "old company."

The question of his right to use his name in business was brought up in U. S. District Court yesterday by his counsel, State Senator Howard I. James, of Bristol, and Paul Knox, of Philadelphia, on a motion presented to Judge Welsh, asking for dismissal of the company's suit on the ground the law gives every man the right to use his own family name.
Frederic L. Clark and George J.
Harding, opposing counsel, maintained that if the use of the name results in an "interference" with the business of the one who used the same name first, it amounts to "unfair trade competition."

They cited several legal decisions to support this contention, but Judge Welsh said he wanted to study the case more thoroughly before handing down a ruling.

WOMEN OF MOOSE TO MEET

There will be a special meeting of Women of the Moose, Bristol Chapter No. 763, this evening, in the Moose Home at eight o'clock.

Woman Held Without Bail On Murder Charge

Held without bail on a charge of murder, Mrs. Minerva Daniels, 24, Bell avenue, Yardley, was committed to the Bucks County Jail yesterday afternoon. The hearing was held before Justice of Peace James Laughlin, at Croydon.

The witnesses were State Trooper Charles A. Jones, South Langhorne barracks, and Dr. Tice, Quakertown, deputy coroner of Bucks county.

Mrs. Daniels, it is alleged, has admitted dumping the bodies of two babies—newly-born twins—into the canal at Yardley on October 6th.
The bodies were found October 8th.

"JAP" MACHINE GUN
PRESENTED TO V. F. W.

Doylestown Post Receives Gift From Lt. Col. Geo.
O. VanOrden

TURNED ON E N E M Y

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—A Japanese machine gun secured in the jungle of Bougainville, and which was turned on the "Japs" themselves with good results, has been presented to Doylestown Post, No.
175, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Lt. Col. George O. VanOrden, son of Col. George VanOrden, of Solebury Township, is the donor, and presentation was made at this week's meeting of the post.

The efficiency of the U. S. Marine Corps and the entire Army and Navy set-up was discussed by the guest speaker, Lt. Col. VanOrden.
His story of the heroism of the Marine Corps on the South Pacific was part of one of the most unusual reports on the war that has been given in this community.

Lt. Col. VanOrden was introduced by his father, who stated that his son was born in the Marine Corps in Florida, "a youngster who was so tender-hearted that his parents had to put him out of the house when they swatted a fly."

The Bucks county officer, nicknamed "The Beast" by his Marines associates, stood before the local audience and told the war story straight from the shoulder. He wears decorations galore, including

Danboro Woman Lost
In Poconos Is Found

PINE FLATS (Pike County, Pa.), Oct. 20.—Missing in the wilds of the Pocono Mountains for two days and nights, Miss Agnes Reese, of Danboro, Bucks County, was found Tuesday about 12:30 noon by a camping party out on a hike in the Pine Flats section.

Miss Reese, aged about 55, a private secretary, and sister-in-law of J. Eugene Long, contractor and builder, of near Danboro, was tired and hungry, but suffered no bad effects apparently, as a result of her somewhat horrifying experience.

State Police of the Milford substation, took Miss Reese to the Stroudsburg Hospital, where she was still confined, getting a much-needed rest.

Hundreds of persons, including many Bucks county friends and neighbors, took part in the hunt.
Miss Reese left Camp Whipoorwill on the Stillwater Trail last Sunday afternoon with friends for a hike.

She became tired and told other members of the party that she would wait for their return, right where she left them. For some reason she decided to start back to the camp, but became lost and it was not until 45 hours later that she was found walking along the Buskill Creek, about six miles from the camp from which she started. She told rescuers that she saw a number of deer at night, very close to her, and that she was able to rest on Monday night. The temperature in the section was 22 degrees above zero on Monday morning.

Stroudsburg Hospital authorities have notified Miss Reese's physician in Plumsteadville that she will be able to be discharged from the hospital shortly.

Steam Boiler History Presented Before Club

The Bristol Exchange Club met last evening in the Elks' Home.
Abraham Bustraan presided at the meeting and the board of control meeting which followed. Arnold Barea introduced his brother Arthur as his guest of the evening.
Warren P. Snyder introduced the speaker of the evening, Elmer Van-ant of Badenhausen Corp., Corn-wells Heights, Mr. Vansant outlined work of the Badenhausen plant, and told of the importance of its products to the nation and the war effort. The history of steam boilers and engines, he informed, dates back to Hero of Alexandria who about 150 B. C. constructed the first steam boiler and jet propulsion engine. Today however the boiler and steam appliance industry is a highly developed science.
Up to 1932 boiler making was limited by the pressure at which the machine or boiler would operate. Since that date a remarkable advance has been made in the industry by improved methods of arc-welding which make high pressures possible in sectional welded boilers.
Some units for the larger electric power plants, which use steam turbines as generators are so large that it requires 75 cars to transport parts for the entire assembly.
The power plant at Los Angeles, Cal., which generates all the electricity for the entire area, operates from one single unit. It requires two years for the construction of one of these boilers.

"The problem of welding the sectional parts of the large boilers and parts requires absolute perfection of workmanship to get the weld to hold under extremes of pressure and temperature.

The inspection of these welds instead up to nine inches must be made with special X-ray machines.
Mr. Vansant exhibited specimens of workmanship, apparatus, tools and safety devices used to safeguard the lives and health of workers in the industry.

"CLEAR EVERYTHING WITH SIDNEY"

PART SIX
WHAT DO THE LAWS FORBID?
(Doylestown Intelligencer)

There are a great many laws, both Federal and State, covering elections in America.

The purpose of these statutes is simple and direct.
The intention is to guarantee that, when a voter enters a polling booth, he or she shall be free to express an honest opinion. This means that the voter's judgment be un-swayed by pressure, unawed by intimidation, unrestrained by fear of retaliation. Moreover, the voter must enjoy confidence that the votes will be accurately counted and honestly recorded.

Many technical requirements exist for conducting the elections themselves to reach these objectives. Other laws attempt to prevent the over-use of money or influence. Still others define the nature and activities of political parties.

A good many public-minded Americans, both Republicans and Democrats, feel a grave anxiety over the PAC movement which may be expressed in the following words:

Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committees, by reason of their capacity to muster unprecedentedly large campaign funds, by reason of their ability to apply pressure upon CIO union members to vote a certain way, and by reason of their partnership with corrupt machine political groups in the metropolitan areas of certain doubtful key states, may be in a position to force an election outcome which is the opposite to that desired by a majority of American citizens.

What is the intended ceiling on expenditures for a national election? The Federal Statutes provide as follows:

"No political committee shall receive contributions aggregating more than $3,000,000 or make expenditure aggregating more than $3,000,000 during any calendar year. For the purpose of this section, any contributions received and any expenditures made on behalf of any political committee with the knowledge and consent of the chairman or treasurer of such committee shall be deemed to be received or made by such committee."

Now by considering the Democratic National Committee, the CIO Political Action Committee, and the National Citizens' Political Action Committee to be three different organizations, and each to have the right to spend the full amount of the statute, it is obvious that the Democratic Party thereby would have the advantage of $9,000,000 being spent in an election instead of the intended limit of $3,000,000.

Moreover, once this principle is accepted, it is a mere matter of perfunctory organization of new committees to add any further conceivable amount.

Few will claim that the intention of the statute is reducible to any such absurdity.

The logical chain presumes one detail which is fantastic on the face of it—that the high command of the

Pianist-Composer Gives A Concert at New Hope

NEW HOPE, Oct. 20.—Harold Triggs, pianist-composer, presented a recital of piano music to the students, faculty and neighborhood friends of the Holmquist School.

His program ranged from the 17th and 18th century music of Bach, Purcell, Peerson and Para-dies, through compositions by Chopin, Debussy and Liszt, to a fascinating group of modern selections by Poulenc and by Triggs himself.

Triggs is head of the music department of Holmquist School. He has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the Detroit Symphony, the Columbia Symphony under Howard Bar-

LAD OF SEVEN DIES; VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Robert Buchala Said To Have Ridden Bicycle
Into Side of Auto

SKULL IS FRACTURED

EDDINGTON, Oct. 20.—A lad of seven years was fatally injured when it is stated he rode a bicycle borrowed from a pal into the side of an automobile on Bristol Pike this week.

Death occurred on Wednesday for Robert Buchala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buchala, of Marian and Maple avenues, Eddington, who had been hurt the previous day.
Death took place in Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, the result of a fractured skull. He also had scalp lacerations.

According to reports of Penna.
State Police, at South Langhorne barracks, the Buchala boy rode out of a private intersection onto Bristol Pike, he striking the right front fender of the automobile operated by Elmer Miller, Street Road. The accident occurred at about 5:15 p. m. Miller was driving toward Philadelphia.

Robert is also survived by a sister, Joann, and a brother, Joseph.

Private Newton was the investigating officer. Miller will be called for questioning at a coroner's inquest.

The rites will be held tomorrow at 9:30 from the Buchala home, with mass at St. Michael's Church, Torresdale, at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Holy Redeemer Cemetery, Philadelphia.

"Emancipation of Women" is Subject

LANGHORNE, Oct. 20.—Guest day was observed yesterday afternoon by Langhorne Sorosis at the meeting in the library. Guests introduced by Mrs. Lester Ransom, president, included two from Somerton club; three from Morrisville; and one from Southampton. Mrs. Ransom opened the meeting with the pledge to the American flag.

The presiding officer then turned the program portion of the day over to Mrs. Edward J. Pierson, chairman of the legislative committee.
Mrs. Pierson first reading the "Prayer Perfect" which was followed by silent prayer. Violin solos were presented by Mrs. Marguerite Johnston, with Mrs. Harry Friedrich at the piano.

The Hon. Calvin S. Boyer, associate judge of Bucks county courts, was the speaker, his subject being
"The Status of Married Women in the State of Pennsylvania" or "The Emancipation of Women." Judge Boyer compared the living conditions 50 years ago to the home conditions today, showing the difference in marriage laws. He recalled that when the States were settled the English brought over to the new country the common laws, with other acts and statutes being added later. It was interesting to note the changes, with the status of women improved at time passed.

The president closed the meeting with a reminder of one of women's privileges, that of the use of the ballot. She urged all to vote on election days.

Ten was served by members of the reciprocity committee.

At the meeting on November 2nd the welfare committee will be in charge, with Mrs. Harry Williams, Jr., chairman, in charge. The speaker will be Dr. Muriel Robinson, whose subject will be "Dentistry's Contribution to Morale and Health." There will be an exhibit of Needlework Guild garments at that time.

Two Cars Are Involved

NEED CHANGE FROM NEW DEAL TO CLEAN DEAL SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. M. Louise Rutherford, Assistant D.-A. Addresses Republican Women

COUNCIL FELICITATED

Tells Group It Is "One of The Very Best Councils in Pennsylvania"

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—"We need a change from the New Deal to a Clean Deal in this country," Dr. M. Louise Rutherford, of Philadelphia, Assistant Attorney General of Pennsylvania, told 200 members of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women here yesterday at the annual meeting of the organization held at the Doylestown Inn.

She congratulated the Bucks County Council, with its 450 members, as "one of the very best Councils in Pennsylvania," and then briefly discussed the various planks in the Republican platform.

Dr. Rutherford said that the $175,000,000 surplus in the Pennsylvania state treasury, built up by good Republican business management, is not going to be lost in November through any mistake.

"We are going to get out the vote this time as never before, but every individual in this room has a vital part in this assignment," she declared. Dr. Rutherford said that the state surplus will be available, if needed after the war, for any unemployment assistance.

The speaker pointed out that a change in commander-in-chief at this time, will make no difference to the war effort, that the professional military leaders will carry on the war just the same.

"Winning of the peace is the important thing," Dr. Rutherford declared. "Don't let us repeat the mistakes of World War No. 1. We must win with Dewey and Bricker in order to satisfactorily solve the problems of demobilization and reconversion. And above all we need a government that fosters free enterprise."

Former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, thanked the members of the Council for their support in sending him to Chicago to the Republican National Convention as a national delegate. Senator Grundy reported on how the Dewey-Bricker ticket was formed, and the progress of the campaign to date.

"This election must be won in our own election districts," Senator Grundy declared. "The people of Pennsylvania must go to the polls and vote, and it's up to every man and woman to play a part in this election."

"Because of war conditions, taking several different groups of people away, who previously voted, it is up to us to draw on a reservoir of new workers who are willing to work."

commander.

Trained primarily as a technician, he also studied defense against chemical warfare, aircraft identification, and related AAF subjects designed to fit him for combat duty.

Depending upon needs of the AAF throughout the world, he may be assigned to an advanced school or to another center as an instructor in radio mechanics.

GRASSHOPPER FLEET GOES PLACES FAST

Woman War Writer Uses Piper Cubs and L-5's As Taxis In Covering Action On 7th Army Front

By Rita Hume
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY
FRANCE, Oct. 20 (Delayed)—This is flying front.

The only way to keep up with it
by plane. And the only planes getting around without benefit of special airfields are two-seated observation craft—Piper Cubs and L-5's. They are invaluable as aerial couriers for the Seventh Army by virtue of their grasshopper ability to hop from field to field.

My adventures in Southern France began with a bang the day I discovered the "Grasshopper fleet."

It was no accident when Lieut.
P. J. Icelin, of Palm Springs and Lincoln, Neb., set his Piper Cub down in the hayfields alongside the 1th Evacuation Hospital the day after I arrived. Such is the gay informality of aerial hitch hiking that little reconnaissance work will produce results.

We buzzed directly for that lush Liguria city, Cannes. Our camouaged infantry had entered the hillside perfume center of Grasse that morning on their way to a rear guard entry into the coastal escort. A huge cloud of smoke could be seen billowing behind still untaken Cannes.

"Ammunition dump," shouted
H. P. over the noise of the motor. You could see the Lerins islands lying just off shore and where, according to the pilot, the Germans had sent up a white flag the previous day, but no one had sotten around to taking them off.

Below, the Cannes airport was straddled with stakes and stone markers against Allied landings.

We listened in on the ear phones to navy crews directing shelling from ships off shore: "Hello, hello, do you hear Sitka leader calling you on other set?"

"I don't want to scare you, but this probably is going to be the roughest landing you ever had," my pilot warned. "Our field slants down hill. Two planes cracked up on it yesterday. Another sheared off the chimney of our office this morning and wound up on top of a palm."

With these words, H. P. (who really goes by that name) set about circling the park-like area below. A huge resort hotel loomed abruptly out of the pines and palms in lovely sienna contrast against the green. The next second we were hovering over a cottage preparing to land. We waggled in safety on a slant that gave the effect of landing on one wing.

And here I encountered the artillery observation plane headquarters for the First Airborne Task Force. At that minute I wish their families might have seen Lieutenants Luther Ray, of Florida, Ala., James Good, of Danville, Ky., and John Corrigan, of San Francisco.
They were sprawled in what looked exactly the setting for a gangster hangout in the mountains.

The rambling lodge had once been a clubhouse on the grounds of what many a tourist will remember as the Golfo de Valescura. Although slightly shell damaged, it still provided good beds and baths.
(Tomorrow it would be tents.)

With parachute scarfs twisted at their throats, the "eyes and ears"
of the First Airborne Task Force
were busy at a variety of jobs.
Some were taking phone messages about locations. Others were checking latest positions on a large scale
map. Mechanics were repairing bruised landing gears on the field

while planes hopped in and out to observe enemy movements and direct fire on hidden batteries as the infantry drove on its objectives.

Curious, isn't it, to think of this little unit of Americans settled where local gentry and world tourists used to tee off for the first hole?

The following day I landed with them in a new field, smack in the middle of a farmer's vegetable garden, where they clowned and cut up for a delighted crowd, who thought there were never people so crazy and wonderful as Americans.

Touring with the Piper Cub force on their aerial observations, this is what I accomplished that day. I met a marquise with a terrific story of the French resistance efforts along the Riviera. In a formerly German occupied hotel I had lunch at the Task Force Headquarters with Major Gen. Robert T.
Frederick, Chief of Staff Col. Kenneth Wickham of Missouri and the general's aide, Capt. Robert Mc-Call, of McCall, Idaho, and Salt Lake City. They gave me an explanation of our Var River strategy.

Finally our Piper took off for dusty airfield where pilots fly correspondents' copy to Rome—a long drive but a short hop.

URGES WAR BOND PURCHASE

Mrs. John L. Kileoyne, chairman of War Bond Drive in this area, says: "With almost every home having an unoccupied room and vacant chairs at the table, our husbands, sons, brothers and sisters, who once filled these places, gone
—we, who are left behind, praying for their safety and quick return, in our distress and longing ask ourselves: Are we doing everything in our power for our loved ones?
Is there more we can do? Yes, there is—buy that extra bond, a 'pin money bond.' Match the sacrifices of our fighting men and women by
'sacrificing' in many small self-denials. Each bond is like a service ribbon—evidence of our willingness to back our country in a time of need. Start your Pin Money Stamp Book now so that it will be finished by Christmas and turned into a bond. You can give it to him or her who is sacrificing for you.

Pin Money Stamp Books can be gotten at the Bristol War Finance Headquarters at the McCrory Store, Mill street. You've backed the attack—now speed the victory!"

Need Change From New Deal to Clean Deal, Says Speaker

see their neighbors and see to it that no one stays at home on election day. This is the most critical time in our political history, and we will win in Pennsylvania if every person does his duty from now on until election day."

Edward B. Watson, former Register of Wills of Bucks county, told the Council members that they should be congratulated on having Mrs. Howard Kooker, Jr., as president. He also pointed out that with 60 per cent of the registered vote this year being women, that it was their solemn duty to do their part in getting out the vote.

"If there is any one group in America today that should take the lead in cleaning out the New Deal it is the women of America," Mr. Watson declared. "You know what the present leadership in Washington promised the women of America—'no fighting on foreign shores.' Well what are you going to do about it?"

Congressman Charles L. Gerlach, of Allentown, candidate for re-election from the Bucks-Lehigh district, promised a majority for the Dewey-Bricker ticket in Lehigh county of anywhere from 2500 to 3000.

"We will not have to worry about Pennsylvania in the November election if other counties will be as active as Bucks and Lehigh," Congressman added.

Remarks were also made by State Representatives Wilson Yeaker, Perkasiel, and Thomas Stockham, Morrisville, both of whom predicted a victory for the Dewey-Bricker ticket. The Council president also presented Mrs. John W. Cooper, of Pineville, a past president of the Council and Mrs. Clarence J. Buckman, of Langhorne, who was an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention.

Dr. Merrill E. Bush, assistant professor of education at Temple University, and chairman of the Institute of Post-War Planning, spoke on "The Challenge of Our Time." He declared that the planning of working peace should be far beyond any partisan politics, and outlined four points why.

Declaring that we are living in the most dramatic period in all history, a time in which the common people can have more to say about our government than they have had at some other times, Dr. Bush reminded the ladies that we are just 60 hours from any part of the earth to any other part.

"We are living in a new kind of a world," he said. "I don't mean for one minute that we should feed or take care of the rest of the world but I do mean that we have to live with people in all parts of the world after this war. The old pattern will not do in the future. We are living in an inter-dependent world."

"Another point I make is that war is too great a luxury in settling disputes, not to even mention the cost of human lives. War can no longer be tolerated. Do you realize that World War No. 1 cost 400 billion dollars, and that was the cheap war. World War No. 2 is costing the United States alone, $10,000,000 an hour! And we don't want a negotiated peace, we must fight it out to the end now. In World War No. 1 it cost $25,000 to kill a man, but the cost in World War No. 2 is $125,000 to kill a man—one man; it's too expensive."

"Is it not possible for you and I to disagree without knocking each other down?"

"And a fourth point is that I want to again remind you that we have never tried to build a lasting peace—never. Our total cost of all our peace efforts in dollars and cents would pay the present cost of war in this country for just 36 minutes. Or putting it another way, if we would have spent as much on peace annually as we have spent, and kept spending over a period of time that it takes to conduct the present war for one year—that peace spending would have started 14,000 years ago!"

Dr. Bush answered a number of questions after his talk. In answer to a question as to what should be done when there is a difference of opinion in politics even between man and wife in the same household, he answered:

"I would rather have a close election, by far, than have one party get all the votes. That's what makes this country great."

When asked about Russia, and her future stand, Dr. Bush said that he was of the opinion that Russia will be just as co-operative as she dare be.

Election of Officers
Mrs. Howard Kooker, Jr., Quakertown, was re-elected president of the council. Other officers: Vice-presidents, Miss Eleanor Worthington, Hartsville; Mrs. Calvin S. Boyer, Doylestown; Mrs. Mary Yardley, Yardley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jacob Shoemaker, Quakertown; recording secretary, Mrs. William O. Hunsicker, Perkasiel; treasurer, Mrs. Marco Bean, Sellersville; assistant treasurer, Mrs. A. Newlin Hellyer, Doylestown.

The following directors were elected: Mrs. Oscar O. Bean, Doylestown; Mrs. William Berringer, Perkasiel; Mrs. Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne; Mrs. Joseph J. Conroy, Doylestown; Miss Anna Darrach, Hartsville; Mrs. Daniel Erdman, Quakertown; Mrs. John B. Force, Yardley; Mrs. George Hobensack, Ivyland; Mrs. W. Leslie Leattor, Riegelsville; Mrs. Peter Leichter, Langhorne; Mrs. William V. Loughery, Newtown; Mrs. William Dixon Lynch, Davisville; Mrs. A. Oscar Martin, Doylestown; Mrs. Charles M. Meredith, Jr., Quakertown; Mrs. William Notter, Sellersville; Mrs. Edward J. Pierson, Parkland; Mrs. Laura Pfaff, Quakertown; Mrs. George Robbins, Yardley, R. D.; Mrs. Harry H. Ross, Churchville; Mrs. David Sheerer, Bristol; Mrs. Susie Strawn, Quakertown R. D.; Mrs. A. Russell Thomas, Doylestown; Mrs. Miriam H. Vandegrift, Newtown; Mrs. Edward Watson, Mechanicsville; and Mrs. William Weaver, Springtown.

Reporting as chairman of the political activities committee, Mrs. Adelaide Ross announced that the Republican registration in Bucks county today is 34,098 and the Democrats have registered 14,973.

Mrs. A. Oscar Martin, of Doylestown, chairman of the council's membership committee, reported a total membership of 450 women, including 125 new members just recently.

was held at the home of Mrs. H. N. Curtis with Joseph Longstreet acting as temporary chairman. Miss Sue E. Hilson was appointed to represent the board and to present a report at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Community Centre.

A set of rules regarding the use of the canteen was laid out and will be posted in the canteen. It was decided to leave the entire main floor free for dancing and to put the active games in the basement. The stage will continue to be used. From now on the refreshments will be sold in order to help defray expenses. A bake sale is planned by the boys and girls Saturday.

The permanent board of directors for the canteen will consist of one representative from each organization in town. Those attending the meeting on Monday night as temporary directors were G. W. McKee and Joseph Longstreet for the P. T. A., William S. Glaz for the Lions Club, Mrs. E. C. Wright for the Red Cross, Mrs. H. N. Curtis for the Service League of St. Andrew's Church, Miss Sue E. Hilson for the Community Centre and Mrs. J. S. Wright for the refreshment committee of the canteen.

his long march back to the Philippines from the southern tip of New Guinea.

He did not inch his way back. He leap-frogged the Japs time and time again. And he leap-frogged them at Mindanao by landing his forces at Leyte, a strategic central Philippine Island between the main island of Luzon and Mindanao.

The actual landings at three points on Leyte were made three days ago—Tuesday, October 17, exactly two years and six months to the day when MacArthur vowed: "I shall return."

Counterfeit Money Topic of Speaker

lines in the engraving are perfect, while on a counterfeit they are usually blurred or not straight. "The engraving process of counterfeiting is not in much use today, because good engravers are watched and taken out of circulation if they are in the counterfeit business."

"The photo mechanical process of counterfeiting is used more. In this process a one dollar bill is washed clean and then a twenty-dollar bill is photographed on the paper."

"The border of a bill is a double check—this is not perfect on counterfeit bills. And the seal, which is of different colors on different denominations, is also a checking point, because on counterfeit bills it is usually blurred. The letters and serial numbers which appear on a bill are also items to be checked."

"On genuine coins the machine work is perfect and this is particularly easy to see in the milling of the edges of the coins, while on counterfeit coins the milling is uneven. The quality of the entire workmanship is also a point of detection of counterfeit work, as on these coins the quality of the general workmanship is usually very poor. Another check is to purchase a solution at the drug store which will discolor a counterfeit coin, while its application on a genuine coin will not discolor it."

The speaker also described the invasion money that is used by our armed forces and he told of numbers and letters on Federal Reserve Bank Notes which enables identity of the bank of origin.

Among the guests present at the session yesterday were Sergeant William Reynolds, Camp Claiborne, La., a cousin of member Lester B. Shoemaker; Lt. Norman Miller, Croydon, a Marine pilot; and Sergeant James Shapcott, Eddington, waist-gunner on a bomber, who has just returned to this country after 30 missions over Europe.

Lt. James Joseph Clark, but he was unable to attend because of having been injured in an automobile accident.

Sixteen members of the club attended the dinner. According to Sgt. Blodgett, the war in the Pacific will last a long time. This, he said, is due to the difficult conditions under which the men in the service must fight the Japs. He explained the dense undergrowth and the humidity make fighting the Japs quite difficult.

The Willing Workers' class of the Baptist Church, Southampton, held its monthly meeting in Mayfair at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Harold S. Myatt. Rev. Myatt was formerly pastor of the church at Southampton. Mrs. Myatt and Miss Edna Leedom were the hostesses.

After devotions a business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Elmer Loose, president of the class. Election of officers to serve for the year was followed by refreshments and a social hour.

In attendance were Rev. and Mrs. Harold S. Myatt, Gladys and Carol Myatt, Mrs. Winifred Moody, Mrs. William A. Yerkes, Mrs. Elmer Loose, Mrs. James Russell, Miss Frances Dobson, Mrs. Emma Tauscher, Mrs. Warren Frantz, Miss Betty Bloomer, Mrs. Paul Noe, Mrs. Jean Cutler, Miss Marion Leedom, Mrs. George Moody, Mrs. Hannah Longhead, Mrs. William Loun, Miss Edna Leedom, Miss Mildred Blume, Mrs. Earl Sinkler and Mrs. Russell Severns.

Three musical numbers were given by Mr. and Mrs. Alois Metzel, on the piano and flute, Mrs. John Flood, New Hope, past president, reported on the recent state convention held in Philadelphia. She said that the state organization decided to appoint a committee of three to present a resolution to Secretary of State Cordell Hull providing that an international education committee be established at the time the peace is written. The desire is to have the appointment written into the peace terms so that such will be mandatory. Mrs. Flood also reported that summer round-up certificates have been issued to several Bucks County Parent-Teacher Associations.

The Victory Gold Medal awards were made to the associations at Doylestown, Feasterville, Hulmeville and Morrisville.

Paul Gruber, of Bucks County office of education, presented a talk on audio visual aids in education. He pointed out the great help of these aids to those who have hearing or visual defects or potential defects. These examinations are conducted by laymen, he stated, who recommend professional aid where needed. "We must have improved reproduction material to give full appreciation for the aid," he added. He showed pictures of the middle states.

Mrs. Stanley Blinn, registrar, reported 50 present, with 11 organizations represented. The Morrisville unit had the largest delegation. The president of the hostess unit is Mrs. Stephenson Fletcher.

the Navy Cross, and has been recommended for the Distinguished Service Medal.

Earlier in the evening, Lt. Col. VanOrden, who was elected a member of the local post some time ago, was obligated. He has since left for Oregon.

"You can feel proud of our professional Army," Lt. Col. VanOrden told the local audience. "There is no such thing as losing the war now, although it is a question of time. It is a question of moving ships and equipment and of getting the Japs to actually come out of hiding. Making contact is what is taking the time."

The complex training of the men in the service in the South Pacific was emphasized.

"A good infantry private today must know as much as a company commander had to know a comparatively few years ago," he said.

Telling a few things about Saipan, Lt. Col. VanOrden made it plain that the only way to win a battle is to get out and fight it. He said "It's foolish to give a Jap a chance to get set after you have upset him. It was not a question of sacrificing the lives of any of our Democratic National Committee has, in the words of the statute, no "knowledge and consent" of the expenditures by the various Hillman committees.

But how can anyone suppose Chairman Hannegan to be unaware of facts which are referred to in every daily newspaper, especially when everyone knows he was "in on" the plan from its inception, and when he has made public statements mentioning political conferences with Hillman?

Reference has been made in an earlier article to a provision in the Hatch Act limiting labor union contributions to $500. Yet a steady trickle of newspaper stories refers to contributions in excess of that amount.

Such gifts cannot be considered to be the individual donations of the officers of the unions rather than the unions themselves, for another provision in the Federal statutes makes it unlawful "for any person, directly or indirectly, to make contributions in an aggregate amount in excess of $5000, during any calendar year . . . on behalf of any candidate for an elective Federal office."

It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the only theories by which the PAC movement may be interpreted as legal are as follows:

First, that PAC is non-political, concerned only with stimulating registration and voting, not with the success of any political parties or candidates.

Second, that Chairman Hannegan has no "knowledge and consent" so far as concerns Hillman's Political Action Committees.

Third, that every dollar raised by Hillman's committees represents strictly "voluntary" contributions from individuals, and that these contributors, not Hillman, determine the amounts and uses of the contributions.

Whether such theories fit the facts is not worth discussing.

(Tomorrow: "Did FAC Find A Loophole?")

boys at Saipan, it was a question of winning the battle there, or else. . . . No Marine officer would ever sacrifice a man."

Lt. Col. VanOrden said that the dirtiest place that he has ever been in this world is the dismas swamps of North Carolina, where living conditions in some places were worse than those of the Japs on some of the Pacific islands.

"At Bougainville we had 126 air raids in 25 days. The Jap planes, with a bomb or two drop their load anywhere and you have to dig in. You sleep in holes, two, three and four men. Two of my men were buried alive when a large shell hit near the opening, but they were soon rescued. When you have four men in a hole it's possible to stand watch while others sleep."

"Medical conditions are excellent. Medicine has made more progress in this war than any other science—by far. The doctors are professionally courageous; there's something wonderful about them."

"The Japs are strange people; there is no comparison between the Oriental and the Occidental mind. The Jap is very patriotic and extremely brave. He is a true lover of his country. He don't care a thing about money, as we do. The Japs believe they are the chosen people."

"The Jap is fighting for his existence. They believe we are barbarians. They eat rice and fish-heads because that's the way the United States and other countries have seen fit to make them live for years."

"The Japs know they will lose this war from a military standpoint, but they are fighting for economic freedom. The Japs first started to plan this war 40 years ago."

"They are not afraid to die, for they believe there is a happier place in the hereafter, where they will be joined with their loved ones. We believe the same thing. It's Christians; the only difference is that the Japs—every single one of them—believe it in their hearts. That's the reason they kill themselves very often."

The machine gun which Lt. Col. VanOrden presented to the local post was captured on November 25, last year, at Bougainville. The Marines were short of guns and the Japs had the only extra supply on the island. Volunteers went over after the guns and brought some back.

"Six of the ten men who went after this gun were killed and four were injured quite seriously, but they brought back the weapon which we immediately used to good advantage," he said.

HULMEVILLE

Mrs. Mamie Smith has received from the U. S. Navy Department the Purple Heart medal, awarded in honor of her son, Harry C. Smith, S. 1/c, who lost his life when the "Maddox" was sunk off the coast of Sicily last year.

A stay in Texas has been concluded by Mrs. Anna Moser Casper, she having visited her husband, Cpl. Joseph Casper, at an army base in that State.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scarlett moved yesterday from Reetz avenue to the house on Bellevue avenue vacated last week by Mr. and Mrs. August Onraet. The Onraets have returned to Philadelphia.

The bridge club of which she is a member will be entertained on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Robert Brien, Jr.

A Hallows' party is scheduled by the Ladies' Auxiliary of William Penn Fire Co. for October 30th in the fire station. All members are asked to mask for this occasion. The committee in charge of plans includes: Mrs. Howard Potter, Mrs. James Tracy and Mrs. Leo McCarthy.

Roofs painted—Good work guaranteed. Rates reasonable. Phone 3426.

Incline our hearts, O Lord, we beseech thee, that we may keep our bodies in health and strength, our appetites and impulses under control and our desires everywhere and at all times temperate and pure. May we be honest, truthful and upright in thought, word and deed. May we be diligent and faithful in our daily tasks, laboring in simplicity and integrity to accomplish only those things which are just and righteous. As faithful disciples of Jesus Christ may we be enabled in all things to live according to thy will. We pray in the name of Christ. Amen.

BENSALEM HIGH TO PLAY BRISTOL ON LOCAL FIELD

First Lower Bucks County League Game of The Season Played Here

BATTLE OF THE LINES

Bensalem Has Larger Line
Than the Bunnies
This Season

The first Lower Bucks County League game of the season to be played here will be played tomorrow afternoon as Bristol meets Bensalem on the local field. Opening kick-off is scheduled for two o'clock.

Bristol will be gunning for its fourth straight win while the Owls are after their third consecutive triumph. The Bunnies have won over George School, Conshohocken, and Riverside, while Bensalem has beaten Fallsington and Pennsylvania School for Deaf.

Coach Harold Stackhouse's boys are flying high since they lost the opening contest to Trenton Catholic. They have rolled up 88 points while having but 13 scored against them. But the fact is that in the last three games the opposing teams have been able to amass but a trio of first downs and all these were on passes.

So on paper it appears as if tomorrow's contest will be a battle of lines. The Bensalemites have a larger line than Bristol in Stark, Geiges, Turner, Sileo, Laditch, Coyne and Hansen and it has a fine passing system which has had Bristol guessing in the last few years.

Offensively, the Bunnies are stronger because of the speed in its backfield. Bristol must check the aerial attack of the visiting team to stop their winning streak. It is a known fact that the Bensalem backfield of Johnson, Samsel, Laster, Trapp and when Dapp is in there can throw accurate passes all over the lot and the wingmen, Stark and Hanson are a pair of fine receivers.

The game may also serve as a test as to what Bristol may do against Burlington. Burlington topped Coach Bixler's boys, 18-0, in the opening game of the season but the Buns could do very little with the Bensalem line and resorted to Sammy Calderone's pitching of passes to win. Burlington, Morrisville, Langhorne, and P. S. D. are the other clubs on the Bristol schedule.

Coach Stackhouse does not contemplate any change in the Bristol starting line-up which means it will be composed of Keyes, Favoroso, Centonze, Feole, Costantini, Lelinski, Mandio, Capriotti, Oriola, Fiorelli and McDevitt.

Morrisville will play its final night game of the season tomorrow at the Robert Morris field, meeting the strong Bordentown High School

BY JOE ELBERSON

Plenty of shooting... last Saturday, opening day of duck season, local gunners started the season with more than a "bang"... it was a barrage. There was an army of hunters out and at times it sounded like machine gun companies in action.

There were plenty of ducks on the move, but after the first hour most of them were so high in the air it would have taken an ack-ack gun to bring them down.

And most men met with some success. Nearly everybody had one or two ducks. Some few had a half dozen or more. George Wetherill and I were on hand for the opening in the Florence Island section of the Delaware. By 7 a. m. we each had a wood duck. Had several nice shots in the next hour following but after that we did very little. From our blind we saw a single come in off the river. By the time he had flown the length of the back channel twenty-two shots had been fired at him. And he kept right on going. He must have been a quarter of a mile in the air when the last shot was fired! It's a shame to waste precious ammunition in that manner.

Shooting was just as plentiful in the flats of the river below Bristol and in the Nesaminy Creek section. Plenty of ducks were killed and plenty of shots were fired.

The only item that left a mar on an otherwise very nice day was the fact that some few hunters, either unconsciously or deliberately, violated sections of the hunting laws. Several arrests were made for illegal possession of ducks and several men paid fines for shooting after hours. Talked with Leroy Stackhouse, Federal deputy, and Earl Carpenter, Bucks County Game Warden, and they both reported violations and arrests. Both of these men said the laws would be enforced, which is only fair to the fellow who observes them.

For the benefit of those who may not be sure of gunning hours for migratory waterfowl here they are again: (Eastern War Time) All migratory game birds: from beginning of respective open season to October 31 inclusive, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset; November 1, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; November 2 to end of respective seasons, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. (unless sunset occurs earlier, when Federal sunset regulation automatically applies).

First Pennsylvania "Hunt Safely Week"... on Sept. 28 Governor Edward Martin issued the following statement:

"I am declaring the week of October 23 as 'Hunt Safely Week.' During that period I strongly urge all sportsmen's organizations and others interested in shooting to preach safety in the field to every man, woman or youngster who takes a gun. I particularly urge that young hunters be taught how properly to handle firearms and how to carry on in the field in order to protect themselves.

"I recommend also that this safety program be given impetus in the schools, and that the children be encouraged to prepare essays on safe hunting and to design safety posters and slogans. From them, I am positive, will come some very excellent suggestions which may later be put to good use by the Game Commission and the sportsmen.

"I understand that the Game Commission is planning to distribute thousands of colored safety placards prior to the opening of the season on November 1 urging hunters to 'Play Safe—Look Before You Shoot'—and above all not to take unsafe weapons into the field, especially those which cannot stand the high-power loads which are used in shells and cartridges today. Additional placards will be available to any group or organization that wishes to use them in connection with local safety programs, and I sincerely hope that many will write in for them.

"Let's all of us do our best to make this first Pennsylvania 'Hunt Safely Week' a success!"

Yes, and after the week of October 23rd is over, let's make every other week the same kind of a week.

AMERICAN FLAG FLIES AGAIN IN PHILIPPINES, TAKEN BACK BY AN AMERICAN INVASION ARMY UNDER COMMAND OF GENERAL DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

Mightiest Ocean-Going Armada Lands Huge Force

JAPS ARE SURPRISED

Enemy Caught Completely Off Balance by The Doughboys

By Lee Van Atta
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters in the Philippines, Oct. 20.—(INS)—The American flag flew again today in the Philippines, brought back by an American invasion army under the personal command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur who fulfilled his promise "I shall return."

The mightiest ocean-going armada in history landed tens of thousands of American doughboys on Leyte Island, approximately 300 miles south of Manila.

The invasion caught the Japs completely off balance. It completely surprised them. They had expected that MacArthur would land somewhere on the coast of Mindanao, southernmost of the Philippines. But again he out-guessed them and completely fooled them, just as he had on numerous other occasions when he began

Cub Packs Participate In Churchville Programs

CHURCHVILLE, Oct. 20.—Representatives of Den 1, Feasterville; Den 4, Johnsonville, and Den 6, Richboro, took part in a program of entertainment at the Cub Scout meeting at the headquarters of Pack 5, here, a few nights ago. The delegation from Feasterville performed a sleight of hand trick, and the Johnsonville representatives took part in what they termed a cat on the fence pillow fight. The den from Richboro took part in what was termed "The old tin Lizzie."

Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Simon, Feasterville, and Mrs. Williams, Johnsonville, presented books to their sons, and Cubmaster Gordon Miller presented books to William Simpson, Robert Loughhead, Richard Hawkins and Gerald Post.

Marshall Davis, Louis Herwig, Edward Flimyer, Robert Meade and Robert Kalbfleisch have been graduated from cubbing and now are eligible to join scout troops.

Mrs. Baner, Churchville; Mrs. Leach, Johnsonville, and Mrs. Blood, Richboro, who served as den mothers the past year, retired. New den mothers introduced were Mrs. Simon, Feasterville; Mrs. Botke, Churchville; Mrs. Williams, Johnsonville, and Mrs. Stevens, Richboro.

Ray Williams, Johnsonville, who served as den chief, was presented a certificate for meritorious service. Marshall Davis, Feasterville, and Louis Herwig, Johnsonville, were appointed new den chiefs.

Scout Executive Raymond W. Hexworth, Doylestown, gave a talk, and there was a demonstration on the making of kites.

UP-TO-PRESS-TIME WAR BULLETINS

ALLIES FIGHT THEIR WAY TOWARD VENLO

Supreme Headquarters, A. E. F., France.—British infantry and American armored forces, smashing back determined German defense forces in sharp clashes on mud-soaked battle-fields, fought their way forward today toward the Maas river communications center of Venlo at the German frontier.

At the other side of the Netherlands battlefield, troops of the Canadian First Army made good progress in their drive against the Scheldt estuary port of Breskens which was under artillery bombardment.

(A Reuter front dispatch said that British and Canadian forces supported by tanks and aircraft launched a new offensive north of Antwerp.) The Canadians struck to within two miles of the towns of Schoondijke and Oostburg. Other Canadian units advanced from the Leopold Canal. Meanwhile, patrols from the two forces made contact in the area south of Oostburg.

BERLIN ALARMED AT RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London.—Massed divisions of the Soviet Army, driving speedily across the extremities of East Prussia, were reported by enemy sources today to be carrying the fury of war to the "holy soil" of the Reich on a scale which brought obvious alarm to Berlin.

While Moscow maintained an unbroken silence, enemy propaganda outlets painted a lurid word picture of the Russian advance, climaxed by an assertion that at one point inside East Prussia the Soviets have breached Nazi lines. DNE asserted that the Reds smashed a hole through German positions by the use of "incomparably powerful tank forces." It added that "the twin battle for East Prussia is heading for a climax."

Judge Ponders Upon Decision in Bristol Case

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(INS)—Federal Judge George A. Welsh was confronted today with making a decision on whether a man can use his own name to operate a business in competition with another enterprise which has been using the contested name for 150 years.

The unique issue was raised in a suit filed last June by the D. Landreth Seed Co., of Bristol, which established the first seed store in the United States in 1874, against David Landreth, charging unfair competition.

Landreth was connected with the complaining firm for 35 years, being its former president and great-grandson of the founder. He resigned and went into business for himself in April, 1941, near the site of the old establishment in Bristol, using his own name.

The corporation filed suit for an injunction to restrain its former officer from using his own name in the business, claiming that by doing so he would "deceive" customers of the old company into doing business with him under the misapprehension that he was the "old company."

The question of his right to use his name in business was brought up in U. S. District Court yesterday by his counsel, State Senator Howard I. James, of Bristol, and Paul Knox, of Philadelphia, on a motion presented to Judge Welsh, asking for dismissal of the company's suit on the ground the law gives every man the right to use his own family name.

Frederic L. Clark and George J. Harding, opposing counsel, maintained that if the use of the name results in an "interference" with the business, of the one who used the same name first, it amounts to "unfair trade competition."

They cited several legal decisions to support this contention, but Judge Welsh said he wanted to study the case more thoroughly before handing down a ruling.

Woman Held Without Bail On Murder Charge

Held without bail on a charge of murder, Mrs. Minerva Daniels, 24, Bell avenue, Yardley, was committed to the Bucks County Jail yesterday afternoon. The hearing was held before Justice of Peace James Laughlin, at Croydon.

The witnesses were State Trooper Charles A. Jones, South Langhorne barracks; and Dr. Tice, Quakertown, deputy coroner of Bucks county.

Mrs. Daniels, it is alleged, has admitted dumping the bodies of two babies—newly-born twins—into the canal at Yardley on October 6th. The bodies were found October 8th.

"JAP" MACHINE GUN PRESENTED TO V. F. W.

Doylestown Post Receives Gift From Lt. Col. Geo. O. VanOrden

TURNED ON ENEMY

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—A Japanese machine gun secured in the jungles of Bougainville, and which was turned on the "Japs" themselves with good results, has been presented to Doylestown Post, No. 175, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Lt. Col. George O. VanOrden, son of Col. George VanOrden, of Solebury Township, is the donor, and presentation was made at this week's meeting of the post.

The efficiency of the U. S. Marine Corps and the entire Army and Navy set-up was discussed by the guest speaker, Lt. Col. VanOrden. His story of the heroism of the Marine Corps on the South Pacific was part of one of the most unusual reports on the war that has been given in this community.

Lt. Col. VanOrden was introduced by his father, who stated that his son was born in the Marine Corps in Florida, "a youngster who was so tender-hearted that his parents had to put him out of the house when they swatted a fly."

The Bucks county officer, nicknamed "The Beast" by his Marines associates, stood before the local audience and told the war story straight from the shoulder. He wears decorations galore, including

Danboro Woman Lost In Poconos is Found

PINE FLATS (Pike County, Pa.), Oct. 20.—Missing in the wilds of the Pocono Mountains for two days and nights, Miss Agnes Reese, of Danboro, Bucks County, was found Tuesday about 12:30 noon by a camping party out on a hike in the Pine Flats section.

Miss Reese, aged about 55, a private secretary, and sister-in-law of J. Eugene Long, contractor and builder, of near Danboro, was tired and hungry, but suffered no bad effects apparently, as a result of her somewhat horrifying experience.

State Police of the Milford subsection, took Miss Reese to the Stroudsburg Hospital, where she was still confined, getting a much-needed rest.

Hundreds of persons, including many Bucks county friends and neighbors, took part in the hunt. Miss Reese left Camp Whippoorwill on the Stillwater Trail last Sunday afternoon with friends for a hike. She became tired and told other members of the party that she would wait for their return, right where she left them. For some reason she decided to start back to the camp, but became lost and it was not until 45 hours later that she was found walking along the Bushkill Creek, about six miles from the camp from which she started. She told rescuers that she saw a number of deer at night, very close to her, and that she was able to rest on Monday night. The temperature in the section was 22 degrees above zero on Monday morning.

Stroudsburg Hospital authorities have notified Miss Reese's physician in Plumsteadville that she will be able to be discharged from the hospital shortly.

Steam Boiler History Presented Before Club

The Bristol Exchange Club met last evening in the Elks' Home. Abraham Bastraan presided at the meeting and the board of control meeting which followed. Arnold Barea introduced his brother Arthur as his guest of the evening.

Warren P. Snyder introduced the speaker of the evening, Elmer Vansant of Badenhausen Corp., Cornwells Heights. Mr. Vansant outlined work of the Badenhausen plant, and told of the importance of its products to the nation and the war effort. The history of steam boilers and engines, he informed, dates back to Hero of Alexandria who about 150 B. C. constructed the first steam boiler and jet propulsion engine. Today however the boiler and steam appliance industry is a highly developed science.

Up to 1932 boiler making was limited by the pressure at which the machine or boiler would operate. Since that date a remarkable advance has been made in the industry by improved methods of arc-welding which make high pressures possible in sectional welded boilers. Some units for the larger electric power plants, which use steam turbines as generators are so large that it requires 75 cars to transport parts for the entire assembly. The power plant at Los Angeles, Cal., which generates all the electricity for the entire area, operates from one single unit. It requires two years for the construction of one of these boilers.

"The problem of welding the sectional parts of the large boilers and parts requires absolute perfection of workmanship to get the weld to hold under extremes of pressure and temperature.

The inspection of these welds in steel up to nine inches must be made with special X-ray machines. Mr. Vansant exhibited specimens of workmanship, apparatus, tools and safety devices used to safeguard the lives and health of workers in the industry.

"CLEAR EVERYTHING WITH SIDNEY"

PART SIX WHAT DO THE LAWS FORBID? (Doylestown Intelligencer)

There are a great many laws, both Federal and State, covering elections in America.

The purpose of these statutes is simple and direct. The intention is to guarantee that, when a voter enters a polling booth, he or she shall be free to express an honest opinion. This means that the voter's judgment be unswayed by pressure, unawed by intimidation, unrestrained by fear of retaliation. Moreover, the voter must enjoy confidence that the votes will be accurately counted and honestly recorded.

Many technical requirements exist for conducting the elections themselves to reach these objectives. Other laws attempt to prevent the over-use of money or influence. Still others define the nature and activities of political parties.

A good many public-minded Americans, both Republicans and Democrats, feel a grave anxiety over the PAC movement which may be expressed in the following words:

Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committees, by reason of their capacity to muster unprecedentedly large campaign funds, by reason of their ability to apply pressure upon CIO union members to vote a certain way, and by reason of their partnership with corrupt machine political groups in the metropolitan areas of certain doubtful key states, may be in a position to force an election outcome which is the opposite to that desired by a majority of American citizens.

What is the intended ceiling on expenditures for a national election? The Federal Statutes provide as follows:

"No political committee shall receive contributions aggregating more than $3,000,000 or make expenditure aggregating more than $3,000,000 during any calendar year. For the purpose of this section, any contributions received and any expenditures made on behalf of any political committee with the knowledge and consent of the chairman or treasurer of such committee shall be deemed to be received or made by such committee."

Now by considering the Democratic National Committee, the CIO Political Action Committee, and the National Citizens' Political Action Committee to be three different organizations, and each to have the right to spend the full amount of the statute, it is obvious that the Democratic Party thereby would have the advantage of $9,000,000 being spent in an election instead of the intended limit of $3,000,000.

Moreover, once this principle is accepted, it is a mere matter of perfunctory organization of new committees to add any further conceivable amount.

Few will claim that the intention of the statute is reducible to any such absurdity.

The logical chain presumes one detail which is fantastic on the face of it—that the high command of the

LAD OF SEVEN DIES; VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Robert Buchala Said To Have Ridden Bicycle Into Side of Auto

SKULL IS FRACTURED

EDDINGTON, Oct. 20.—A lad of seven years was fatally injured when it is stated he rode a bicycle borrowed from a pal into the side of an automobile on Bristol Pike this week.

Death occurred on Wednesday for Robert Buchala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buchala, of Marian and Maple avenues, Eddington, who had been hurt the previous day. Death took place in Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, the result of a fractured skull. He also had scalp lacerations.

According to reports of Penna. State Police, at South Langhorne barracks, the Buchala boy rode out of a private intersection onto Bristol Pike, he striking the right front fender of the automobile operated by Elmer Miller, Street Road. The accident occurred at about 5:15 p. m. Miller was driving toward Philadelphia.

Robert is also survived by a sister, Joann, and a brother, Joseph.

Private Newton was the investigating officer. Miller will be called for questioning at a coroner's inquest.

The rites will be held tomorrow at 9:30 from the Buchala home, with mass at St. Michael's Church, Torresdale, at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Holy Redeemer Cemetery, Philadelphia.

"Emancipation of Women" is Subject

LANGHORNE, Oct. 20.—Guest day was observed yesterday afternoon by Langhorne Sorosis at the meeting in the library. Guests introduced by Mrs. Lester Ransom, president, included two from Somerton club; three from Morrisville; and one from Southampton. Mrs. Ransom opened the meeting with the pledge to the American flag.

The presiding officer then turned the program portion of the day over to Mrs. Edward J. Pierson, chairman of the legislative committee. Mrs. Pierson first reading the "Prayer Perfect" which was followed by silent prayer. Violin solos were presented by Mrs. Marguerite Johnston, with Mrs. Harry Friedrich at the piano.

The Hon. Calvin S. Boyer, associate judge of Bucks county courts, was the speaker, his subject being "The Status of Married Women in the State of Pennsylvania" or "The Emancipation of Women." Judge Boyer compared the living conditions 50 years ago to the home conditions today, showing the difference in marriage laws. He recalled that when the States were settled the English brought over to the new country the common laws, with other acts and statutes being added later. It was interesting to note the changes, with the status of women improved at time passed.

The president closed the meeting with a reminder of one of women's privileges, that of the use of the ballot. She urged all to vote on election days.

Tea was served by members of the reciprocity committee.

At the meeting on November 2nd the welfare committee will be in charge, with Mrs. Harry Williams, Jr., chairman, in charge. The speaker will be Dr. Muriel Robinson, whose subject will be "Dentistry's Contribution to Morale and Health." There will be an exhibit of Needlework Guild garments at that time.

Official of Trenton Trust Co. Addresses Bristol Rotary Club

GUESTS ARE PRESENT

"Counterfeit Money" was the topic which George Fuhrmann, chief clerk and personnel manager of the Trenton Trust Company, used as his subject when he addressed members of the Bristol Rotary Club at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

Fuhrmann, who is also vice-president of the Trenton chapter of the American Institute of Banking, told club members that "men who employ persons should instruct those persons to be careful to see that money which is taken is good, and to make certain that it is genuine, whether it is bills or coins."

The speaker then outlined some of the methods employed to detect counterfeit money. He pointed out that the picture on paper money is the most important part to inspect. First of all, knowing what picture to look for is important... each denomination has a different picture: the one dollar bill has a picture of Washington; two-dollar bill, Jefferson; five-dollar bill, Lincoln; ten-dollar bill, Hamilton; twenty-dollar bill, Jackson; fifty-dollar bill, Grant; hundred-dollar bill, Franklin; 500-dollar bill, McKinley; thousand-dollar bill, Cleveland; ten - thousand - dollar bill, Madison.

"Flaws in the engraving are good signs of a counterfeit," Fuhrmann declared. "On a genuine bill the

Dr. M. Louise Rutherford, Assistant D.-A. Addresses Republican Women

Tells Group It Is "One of The Very Best Councils in Pennsylvania"

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—"We need a change from the New Deal to a Clean Deal in this country," Dr. M. Louise Rutherford, of Philadelphia, Assistant Attorney General of Pennsylvania, told 200 members of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women here yesterday at the annual meeting of the organization held at the Doylestown Inn.

She congratulated the Bucks County Council, with its 450 members, as "one of the very best Councils in Pennsylvania," and then briefly discussed the various planks in the Republican platform.

Dr. Rutherford said that the $175,000,000 surplus in the Pennsylvania state treasury, built up by good Republican business management, is not going to be lost in November through any mistake.

"We are going to get out the vote this time as never before, but every individual in this room has a vital part in this assignment," she declared. Dr. Rutherford said that the state surplus will be available, if needed after the war, for any unemployment assistance.

The speaker pointed out that a change in commander-in-chief at this time, will make no difference to the war effort; that the professional military leaders will carry on the war just the same.

"Winning of the peace is the important thing," Dr. Rutherford declared. "Don't let us repeat the mistakes of World War No. 1. We must win with Dewey and Bricker in order to satisfactorily solve the problems of demobilization and reconstruction. And above all we need a government that fosters free enterprise."

Former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, thanked the members of the Council for their support in sending him to Chicago to the Republican National Convention as a national delegate. Senator Grundy reported on how the Dewey-Bricker ticket was formed, and the progress of the campaign to date.

"This election must be won in our own election districts," Senator Grundy declared. "The people of Pennsylvania must go to the polls and vote, and it's up to every man and woman to play a part in this election."

"Because of war conditions, taking several different groups of people away, who previously voted, it is up to us to draw on a reservoir of new workers who are willing to

GRASSHOPPER FLEET GOES PLACES FAST

Woman War Writer Uses Piper Cubs and L-5's As Taxicabs in Covering Action On 7th Army Front

By Rita Hume
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY, France, Oct. 20 (Delayed)—This is
flying front.

The only way to keep up with it
by plane. And the only planes flying around without benefit of special airfields are two-seated observational craft—Piper Cubs and L-5s. They are invaluable as liaison couriers for the Seventh Army by virtue of their grasshopper ability to hop from field to field.

My adventures in Southern France began with a bang the day I discovered the "Grasshopper
fleet."

It was no accident when Lieut.
H. P. Icelin, of Palm Springs and Lincoln, Neb., set his Piper Cub
down in the hayfields alongside the 11th Evacuation Hospital the day after I arrived. Such is the gay informality of aerial hitch hiking that little reconnaissance work will produce results.

We buzzed directly for that lush Riviera city, Cannes. Our camouflaged infantry had entered the Midi perfume center of Grasse that morning on their way to a rear guard entry into the coastal sort. A huge cloud of smoke could be seen billowing behind still unbroken Cannes.

"Ammunition dump," shouted
H. P. over the noise of the motor. You could see the Lerins islands lying just off shore and where, according to the pilot, the Germans had sent up a white flag
the previous day, but no one had otten around to taking them off.
Below, the Cannes airport was riddled with stakes and stone markers against Allied landings.

We listened in on the car phones of navy crews directing shelling from ships off shore: "Hello, nello, do you hear Sitka leader calling

you on other set?"

"I don't want to scare you, but this probably is going to be the toughest landing you ever had," my pilot warned. "Our field slants down hill. Two planes cracked up on it yesterday. Another sheared
off the chimney of our office this morning and wound up on top of a palm."

With these words, H. P. (who really goes by that name) set
about circling the park-like area
below. A huge resort hotel loomed abruptly out of the pines and palms
in lovely sienna contrast against
the green. The next second we were hovering over a cottage preparing to land. We waggled in safely on a slant that gave the effect of landing on one wing.

And here I encountered the artillery observation plane headquarters for the First Airborne Task Force. At that minute I wish their families might have seen Lieutenants Luther Ray, of Florida, Ala., James Good, of Danville, Ky., and John Corrigan, of San Francisco.
They were sprawled in what looked
exactly the setting for a gangster
hangout in the mountains.

The rambling lodge had once
been a clubhouse on the grounds
of what many a tourist will remember as the Golfo de Valescura. Albeit slightly shell damaged, it still provided good beds and baths.
(Tomorrow it would be tents.)

With parachute scars twisted at their throats, the "eyes and ears"
of the First Airborne Task Force
were busy at a variety of jobs.
Some were taking phone messages
about locations. Others were checking latest positions on a large scale
map. Mechanics were repairing
bruised landing gears on the field

while planes hopped in and out to
observe enemy movements and direct fire on hidden batteries as the
infantry drove on its objectives.

Curious, isn't it, to think of this little unit of Americans settled
where local gentry and world tourists used to tee off for the first hole?

The following day I landed with
them in a new field, smack in the middle of a farmer's vegetable
garden, where they clowned and
cut up for a delighted crowd, who
thought there were never people so crazy and wonderful as Americans.

Touring with the Piper Cub force
on their aerial observations, this is what I accomplished that day. I met a marquise with a terrific
story of the French resistance efforts along the Riviera. In a formerly German occupied hotel I had lunch at the Task Force Headquarters with Major Gen. Robert T.
Frederick, Chief of Staff Col. Kenneth Wickham of Missouri and the general's aide, Capt. Robert Mc-Call, of McCall, Idaho, and Salt Lake City. They gave me an explanation of our Var River strategy.

Finally our Piper took off for
dusty airfield where pilots fly correspondents' copy to Rome—a long
drive but a short hop.

URGES WAR BOND PURCHASE

Mrs. John L. Kilcoyne, chairman of War Bond Drive in this area,
says: "With almost every home
having an unoccupied room and vacant chairs at the table, our husbands, sons, brothers and sisters,
who once filled these places, gone
—we, who are left behind, praying
for their safety and quick return,
in our distress and longing ask ourselves: Are we doing everything
in our power for our loved ones?
Is there more we can do? Yes, there is—buy that extra bond, a 'pin
money bond.' Match the sacrifices
of our fighting men and women by
'sacrificing' in many small self-denials. Each bond is like a service ribbon—evidence of our willingness to back our country in a time of need. Start your Pin Money Stamp Book now so that it will be finished by Christmas and turned into a bond. You can give it to him or her who is sacrificing for you.

Pin Money Stamp Books can be
gotten at the Bristol War Finance Headquarters at the McCrory Store, Mill street. You've backed the attack—now speed the victory!"

Incline our hearts, O Lord, we beseech thee, that we may keep our bodies in health and strength, our appetites and impulses under control and our desires everywhere and at all times temperate and pure. May we be honest, truthful and upright in thought, word and deed. May we be diligent and faithful in our daily tasks, laboring in simplicity and integrity to accomplish only those things which are just and righteous. ## BENSALEM HIGH TO PLAY BRISTOL ON LOCAL FIELD

First Lower Bucks County League Game of The

BATTLE OF THE LINES

Bensalem Has Larger Line
Than the Bunnies
This Season

The first Lower Bucks County League game of the season to be played here will be played tomorrow afternoon as Bristol meets Bensalem on the local field. Opening kick-off is scheduled for two o'clock.

Bristol will be gunning for its fourth straight win while the Owls are after their third consecutive triumph. The Bunnies have won over George School, Conshohocken, and Riverside, while Bensalem has beaten Fallsington and Pennsylvania School for Deaf.

Coach Harold Stackhouse's boys are flying high since they lost the opening contest to Trenton Catholic. They have rolled up 88 points while having but 13 scored against them. But the fact is that in the last three games the opposing teams have been able to amass but a trio of first downs and all these were on passes.

So on paper it appears as if tomorrow's contest will be a battle of lines. The Bensalemites have a larger line than Bristol in Stark, Geiges, Turner, Silcox, Loditch, Coyne and Hansen and it has a fine passing system which has had Bristol guessing in the last few years.

Offensively, the Bunnies are stronger because of the speed in its backfield. Bristol must check the serial attack of the visiting team to stop their winning streak. It is a known fact that the Bensalem backfield of Johnson, Sammel, Laster, Trapp and when Dapp is in there can throw accurate passes all over the lot and the wingmen, Stark and Hansen are a pair of fine receivers.

The game may also serve as a test as to what Bristol may do against Burlington. Burlington topped Coach Bixler's boys, 18-0, in the opening game of the season but the Buns could do very little with the Bensalem line and resorted to Sammy Calderone's pitching of passes to win. Burlington, Morrisville, Langhorne, and P. S. D. are the other clubs on the Bristol schedule.

Coach Stackhouse does not contemplate any change in the Bristol starting line-up which means it will be composed of Keyes, Favore, Centonze, Feole, Costantini, Letinski, Mandio, Capriotti, Oriola, Fiorelli and McDevitt.

By JOE ELBERSON

Plenty of shooting . . . last Saturday, opening day of duck season, local gunners started the season with more than a "bang" . . . It was a barrage. There was an army of hunters out and at times it sounded like machine gun companies in action.

There were plenty of ducks on the move, but after the first hour most of them were so high in the air it would have taken an ack-ack gun to bring them down.

And most men met with some success. Nearly everybody had one or two ducks. Some few had a half dozen or more. George Wetherill and I were on hand for the opening in the Florence Island section of the Delaware. By 7 a. m. we each had a wood duck. Had several nice shots in the next hour following but after that we did very little. From our blind we saw a single come in off the river. By the time he had flown the length of the back channel twenty-two shots had been fired at him. And he kept right on going. He must have been a quarter of a mile in the air when the last shot was fired! It's a shame to waste precious ammunition in that manner.

Shooting was just as plentiful in the flats of the river below Bristol and in the Nesquehony Creek section. Plenty of ducks were killed and plenty of shots were fired.

The only item that left a mar on an otherwise very nice day was the fact that some few hunters, either unconsciously or deliberately, violated sections of the hunting laws. Several arrests were made for illegal possession of ducks and several men paid fines for shooting after hours. Talked with Leroy Stackhouse, Federal deputy, and Earl Carpenter, Bucks County Game Warden, and they both reported violations and arrests. Both of these men said the laws would be enforced, which is only fair to the fellow who observes them.

For the benefit of those who may not be sure of gunning hours for migratory waterfowl here they are again: (Eastern War Time) All migratory game birds: from beginning of respective open season to October 31 inclusive, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, November 1, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; November 2 to end of respective seasons, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. (unless sunset occurs earlier, when Federal sunset regulation automatically applies).

First Pennsylvania "Hunt Safely Week" . . . on Sept. 28 Governor Edward Martin issued the following statement:

"I am declaring the week of October 23 as 'Hunt Safely Week.' During that period I strongly urge all sportsmen's organizations and others interested in shooting to preach safety in the field to every man, woman or youngster who totes a gun. I particularly urge that young hunters be taught how properly to handle firearms and how to carry on in the field in order to protect themselves.

"I recommend also that this safety program be given impetus in the schools, and that the children be encouraged to prepare essays on safe hunting and to design safety posters and slogans. From them, I am positive, will come some very excellent suggestions which may later be put to good use by the Game Commission and the sportsmen.

"I understand that the Game Commission is planning to distribute thousands of colored safety placards prior to the opening of the season on November 1 urging hunters to 'Play Safe—Look Before You Shoot'—and above all not to take unsafe weapons into the field, especially those which cannot stand the high-power loads which are used in shells and cartridges today. Additional placards will be available to any group or organization that wishes to use them in connection with local safety programs, and I sincerely hope that many will write in for them.

"Let's all of us do our best to make this first Pennsylvania Hunt Safely Week a success!"

Yes, and after the week of October 23rd is over, let's make every other week the same kind of a week.

eleven. Kickoff will take place at eight o'clock.
